

10.05.06

today in new york:

suddenly seymour.

charmed, i'm sure.

no one will ever hear you complaining about an abundance of stores. especially when those like russian hill's anica open.

though they've channeled victorian gothic-gone-girly decor, this shop is anything but prim and proper. anica (meaning charismatic in hindi) features a new guard of designers. sexy wool dresses from L.A., (yes, sexy and wool.) belted felt jumpers. flowing metallic tops with giant bibs, and high-waisted skirts. think united bamboo, and karen walker, as well as seasoned designers like rachel pally and INhabit. more thinking: invest in a russian vintage inspired locket (a must this season).

in a nutshell: if anything's missing, it's fainting chairs and cute pageboys.

anica

2418 polk street

at union

415.447.2878

opens october 15th